KRYFS Version 2.0: A New Chapter Begins at 33

When I look back, my journey with KRYFS has been nothing short of remarkable. I started this company with my father, fondly known as Senior Sir or FBQ, in December 1992 with a simple but powerful vision—that one day, KRYFS would become a world-class company in the energy components manufacturing industry. Over the last 33 years, this dream has been shaped step by step, decision by decision, with the dedication of many people who stood by us along the way. And most importantly, with the hard work and commitment of every single KRYFSian.

Every milestone we achieved, whether big or small, was guided by that vision and the support of every KRYFSian. Some decisions were tough, others bold, but all were taken with our eyes fixed firmly on the future.

Now, as we join hands with Zetwerk, I see this as another defining step forward—one that keeps us on track towards our long-term vision of making KRYFS world-class.

Zetwerk's growth journey is nothing short of incredible and inspiring. Founded by two brilliant young alumni of IIT Madras, in just seven years, it is valued at USD 3.1 billion, serving 2,000+ customers, employing 3,500+ people, and running 12+ advanced manufacturing facilities. From aerospace and defense to electronics and infrastructure, Zetwerk has proven its strength through landmark projects and cutting-edge capabilities. It's a great success story of Make in India and Atmanirbhar Bharat that our Honourable PM is passionate about.

For KRYFS, this partnership is not just about bigger numbers—it's about opportunities. It means access to modern technologies, global markets, and stronger collaborations. For every KRYFSian, it creates a platform to grow faster, gain exposure to world-class practices, and take their careers to the next level.

As we enter this new era, let us continue to walk with the strength of our 7H Values. With them as our compass, we will not just progress towards our vision but thrive as individuals and as a company—always moving forward, always together.

As the festive season approaches, I extend my warmest wishes to all KRYFSians and your families. May this time bring joy, prosperity, and togetherness into your lives, and may the spirit of celebration inspire us to carry the same energy and positivity into everything we do at KRYFS.

Learning in Action!

Our PHP batch had an engaging training program that was all about growth and new perspectives. With an external trainer sharing valuable insights and our MD Sir's motivating address, the sessions were both inspiring and energizing. The batch wrapped it up with lively presentations, sharing their ideas with confidence and creativity. At KRYFS, learning is never just a session—it's an experience that sparks collaboration, fun, and continuous improvement!
